

Sønderborg Køkkenet is getting a new owner

On October 15 2021 Chris Christensen will take ownership of Sønderborg Køkkenindustri A/S after previous owner, Johnny Petersen, has decided to retire.

"It has been a difficult decision - one that has taken me a year to get to. Having helped establish and run the company for over 40 years, it is not without emotion that I pass it on to new and younger forces. I am happy to have found a new founder with industry experience, who can continue to grow the company," Johnny says and continues, "It is the perfect time for a business transfer. The market is in stabil growth and I am confident, that Sønderborg Køkkenet will be more than able to continue its work into the future."

Chris Christensen, who is taking ownership of the Danish company, has many years of experience in the industry.

"I am proud and look forward to contribute in my new role for the company. In my opinion, it is a very well-functioning company with skilled employees, who will be the foundation in ensuring the same high level of quality and service for which the company is known for," says Chris.

"I am currently living in the northern part of Denmark, but my family and I intend to move closer to the company," Chris says and continues, "I hope that everyone will welcome this change as much as me. I look forward to continuing the good work with all employees, partners at home and abroad as well as past, present and future customers."

A reception will be held at a later date. More info will follow.
